

I'm not really Albert Einstein...

...I just use science to help
understand the world.

Just like Einstein, I like Physics best of all.
Stamford's campus has a really cool Science Center designed to align with the scientific method
– it has break-out space for hypothesizing, lab
space for experimentation and presentation space
for sharing findings!

Stamford is a world-class school with students from 2
years old through High School and an enhanced campus
offering state-of-the-art academic and athletic resources,
daily Mandarin and Spanish and the rigorous IB Program
enhanced by American standards.
